What's new with Market Central?

Summer is winding down around Charlottesville and with the transition into fall comes one of our favorite times of year - the annual Meet Yer Eats Farm Tour. This year we have 12 amazing farms participating (all current or former vendors at the Charlottesville markets). Each participating farm opens up their property for tours, programs, sales, and simply good times. A $15 car pass is all you need to join in on Labor Day so get your ticket today!

With the end of the summer season also comes the time for last minute preserving. The markets bring us tons of great canning produce this time of year including peaches, apples, pears, zucchini, carrots, and cucumbers. We have a few more spots left in our August 26 (free) canning class at the Haven downtown, making homemade ketchup. More information here!

Meanwhile, the end of summer isn't slowing us down at Market Central. We have some great cooking classes planned for the fall - Homemade Tortillas & Enchiladas with Ula Tortillas, and Holiday Pies with Lynette from Family Ties and Pies. Please go to to our website for class descriptions & day and time.
